Q: Verification of set in relation to super/sub sets I have 2 sets. For example, set A and set B as a member of the following sets: Set A \subseteq Set B Set A $=$ Set B $A=B$ Which of these sets has A and B? How would I go about this question? A: Hint: If you want to know which is the bigger of the 2 sets, just show that for all $x \in A$, $x \in B$. On the other hand, if you know which one is the smallest, do the same argument but with "largest" instead of "smallest".

February is fast approaching, and that means another big party comes along with it: the Carl's Jr. Cravings Invitational card. With it comes two very important matchups: T.J. Dillashaw vs. Cody

Garbrandt and Frankie Edgar vs. TJ Grant. As the Super Bowl of MMA is coming up, we will get to see who will go to the next level in the sport. Last August, Dillashaw fought Garbrandt for the UFC bantamweight belt, with Dillashaw winning that championship. Since then, Garbrandt went to the featherweight division and Dillashaw will move to the lightweight division. It is a great match, which will give Dillashaw another opportunity to keep that belt. Garbrandt, the 22-year-old newcomer to the UFC bantamweight division, is favored, and his stats back it up. In 2014, he had a 14-0 record and won 14 fights in a row, including wins over former UFC champions Dominick Cruz and Urijah Faber. He has constantly shown that he is one of the best fighters in the division, so fans should expect him to fight just as well in his new weight division as he does in the bantamweight division. His opponent is the former UFC champion, Cody Garbrandt. He was a well-known name before joining the UFC, with his record standing at a solid 5-2. He was the champion at both bantamweight and flyweight, so he has experience and is well-versed in martial arts. Overall, he is a very tough fighter, but not unbeatable.
